Data for Ely-Goldfield Railroad is Complete

SALT LAKE, Sept. 6.—The project of building a railroad from Goldfield to Ely, making it a part of a transcontinental line by connecting there with the proposed line from Salt Lake to Ely, appears to be by no means dead. For nearly a year engineers have been employed gathering data relative to ore tonnages at Hamilton, Tybo, Reveille and other mining camps which would be in or near the Ely-Goldfield line. That work has been finished, it is said, and it only remains for the data to be placed in the hands of the promoters.

Engineers have gone to San Francisco for a conference, following which they will meet in New York the principal interests behind the project. Opposition of the city of Ely to granting a right of way franchise through that city—which held up the project two years ago—has been overcome. Not only is Ely ready to grant a franchise as soon as it is shown that the promoters are ready to begin work, but the citizens of that city, it is declared, are willing to donate to the new railroad a fine depot building.

A. B. Witcher, a prominent banker of Ely, is quoted as saying that he has every assurance that the road will be built and that work will be commenced in a short time.

"It is also probable," said he, "that the road from Ely through the Deep Creek country to Salt Lake City will be built soon, for that connecting link would make a transcontinental line. It would afford an outlet for the ores of Ely to either Salt Lake or Needles, Cal. Then a sixteen-mile road from Eureka to connect with the main line would afford an outlet for the large tonnage of fluxing ore that has been developed in the Raymond Eureka mine by the United States Smelting company."

Round Mt. Company Has Splendid August Record

Bullion returns from the Sunny-side mill of the Round Mountain Mining company for the month of August show a total of more than $366,000, which is a splendid record for the 31 days of operation—more than $1,000 per day in yellow gold turned out for the company.

With the new equipment installed, thereby materially increasing the milling capacity, the September output of the Round Mountain company will in all probability exceed the August figures. Everything at the mill and mine is running like clockwork and the above figures from the bullion cleanup are eloquent.
